

MRS. S. (closing her book). "Oh, how delightful! After all their troubles they were married at last, and lived in perpetual bliss; so much like us, George dear."

[Unfortunately, George dear can not see the least resemblance.]